A STRANGE SORT OF CEMETERY. Travellers in South America have made many strange discoveries there-as strange, indeed, as those occasionally reported in the tabled and ever interesting East. One of the latest is described as a sort of cemetery aboveground. It is in the desert of Atacama, a plateau in the wonderful Andes, at an elevation of about four thousand feet above the sea. The only evidence that men ever existed there. is that human bodies, as well as those of mules and horses, are scattered about upon the waste, dried and shrivelled to mummies by the parching atmosphere. A recent traveller in that region gives a graphic account of what he saw. from which we select his description of the cemetery without graves : 'Iwo days journey from Calama, over the dazzling sand and through the stifling dust, brings the traveller to Chin-Chin, an ancient Peruvian burying place still within the bounds of Atacama.

"And here in reserve for him is a spectacle which one might safely affirm has not its like upon the face of the earth. It is called a cemetery, by which we understand a place for the interment of the dead. But here the dead are not buried. Seated in a large semicircle, one beside another, are the mummied remains of an assemblage of human beings-men, women and children-to the number of five or six hundred, all apparently in the places and attirudes which they first occupied, and which they have kept perhaps for ages. There they sit in the sand, immovable, as in a solemn council, gazing vacantly, with sucken and dried eyeballs, into the arid waste before them. Nearly all are in the same position, though some have fallen down and are partly covered with the sand. The hot dry air has preserved them as imperishably as the embalming art the bodies of Egypt. the bodies of Egypt.

"What is the explanation of so strange a cene? Who are these that now constitute this ghastly company? Where, and how, and why did they first take their places in this vast emi-circle?

"A thousand questions may be asked, but lew answered. The inhabitants of the country who live nearest to the spot have no knowledge on the subject. Some think that the (Successors to Fowle & Co.,)

COMMISSION, SHIPPING & FORWARD-ING MERCHANTS. bodies were brought hither and placed in this position after death, and that such deposit was to serve the purpose of burial. But where could the people have lived who brought their dead to this spot? There is no habitable region at any convenient distance, and no place of imilar design is known to exist, to prove that it was a custom common to the aboriginal population. "Others believe that this may have been the remnant of a native tribe, hunted and pursued by enemies, and driven to a desperate choice tween two impending evils : to die by their act or by the weapons of their foes. There are mothers with infants in their arms among the mummies, and it is even thought that the fried and shrunken countenances retain suffiient expression to indicate that some grievous calamity had overtaken or was about to befall them. It may be their fancy, but travellers aver that grief and despair may be traced upon these shrivelled features, and they are rea dy to believe that their possessors might have been retreating before the conqueror of their country (perhaps from Pizarro himself). and that sooner than submit tamely to the rapacious and cruel invaders, they preferred to hide themselves in this dreary and inaccessible spot, and to suffer the agonies of a voluntary death. sustained by such comforts and hopes as their own simple faith could afford. We cannot tell; but there is a spot on the border of this desert called Tucuman, which in the Indian language means 'All is lost.' Perhaps the name commemorates the heroic resolution of these hunted people as they sought the desert for self immolation.

"It is said, too, by those who have studied the religious ideas of the ancient Peruviaus, that they believed in self sacrifice for their country; that thus dying, they would be speedily removed to a better land toward the

A CHICAGO STORY. - A curious story has been circulated in Detroit, Michigan, in reference to the anusually protracted stay of Dr. Livingstone, the African explorer, in the interior of Africa. Dr. Livingstone, it is alleged was, much against his wish, persuaded to marly a rude and blustering native princess, who, with her father and mother, prevent his furthor presecution of topographical investigations. his story was received in a letter written by a tady now travelling in Syria, and who obtained the information from Captain Burton, British consul at Damascus, Syria. Captain Burton says that this obstruction in Livingstone's path has, until now been concealed by his friends. Capt. Burton himself, it is stated, is married to the handsomest woman in England, so that he cannot be excited by envy in starting this story, and as he speaks fourteen different languages fluently, his capacity for telling the truth is considerable.

Texas .- It is estimated that over 100,000 mamigrants have entered Texas within the last twelve months, and during last December over 1,500 persons came daily into the State. The crops this summer, it is believed, will be double those of last year. The hilly regions of the western part of the State are very healthy, but the persons who settle on the low, flat lands, and use the water of the streams, are liable to chills and fevers, and the inhabitants of the coast cities are subject to yeilow fever. Labor is in great demand in the agricultural districts, and farm hands receive from $15 to $20 a month and their board. During the cotton picking season they are paid from $2 50 to $3 a day and board. In the cities journeymen mechanies are paid from $3 50 to $5 a day.

HAY .-- A correspondent of the New Eogand Farmer gives the following plan of geting hay, which he says has been practiced necessfully by several of his acquaintances, who think it a great saving of labor over the way commonly practiced of mowing in the morning: - "The hay is all cut in the afternoon, when entirely free from external moisture. Next day, after the dew is all off, it is turned. After dinner it is raked and got in tures, at without delay. There is no cocking at night | iy 8

DR. JOHNSTON,

Member of the Royal College of Surgeons, London, Graduate of one of the most eminent Colleges in the United States, and the greater part of whose life has been spent in the hospital. of London, Paris, Philadelphia and elsewhere, has effected some of the most astonishing cura-DREN'S BOOTS and SHOES out of style, that were ever known; many troubled with which will be sold at one-half the cost to manringing in the head and ears when asleep, great nervousness, being alarmed at sudden sounds, bashfulness, with frequent blushing, attended sometimes with derangement of mind, were cured immediately.

TAKE PARTICULAR NOTICE. Dr. J. addresses all those who have injured themselves by improper indulgence and solitary habits, which ruin both body and mind. unfitting them for either busines, study, society or These are some of the sad and melancholy effects produced by the early habits of youth, viz: Weaknese of the Back and Limbs. Pains in the Head, Dimness of Sight Loss of Muscular Power, Palpitation of the Heart, Dyspepsis, Nervous Irritability, Derangement of the Digestive Functions, General Debility, Symptoms of Consumption, &c MENTALLY - The fearful effects on the mind are much to be dreaded. Loss of accounty, Confusion of Ideas, Depression of Spirits, Evil Forebodings, Aversion to Society, Self Distrust, Love of Spiritde, Timidity, &c., are some of the evils produced. Thousands of persons of all ages can now judge what is the cause of their declining health, losing their vigor, becoming weak, pale, nervous and emaciated, having a singular appearance about the eyes, cough and symptoms of Consumption. YOUNG MEN Who have injured themselves by a certain school, the effects of which are nightly felt, even when asleep, and if not cured, renders marriage impossible, and destroys both mind and body, should apple immediately.

What a pity that a young man, the hope of hs country, the pride of his parents, should be snatched from all prospects and enjoyment of life by the consequence of deviating from the path of nature, and indulging in pernipractice, already described, a habit tre-quently learned from evil companions or at cious habits. Such persons must, before contemplating MARRIAGE. Reflect that a sound min I and body are the most necessary requisites to promote connubial happiness. Indeed, without these the jour-ney through life becomes a weary pilgrimage. the prospect hourly darkens to the view, the mind becomes shadowed with despair, and tilled with the melancholy reflection that the happi-ness of another is blighted with our own

DISEASE OF IMPRUDENCE.

When the misguided and imprudent votary When the misguided and imprudent votary of pleasure finds that he has impided the seeds of this painful disease, it too often happens that an ill-limed sense of shame or dread of discovery deters him from applying to those who, from education and respectability, can alone betriend him, delaying till the constitutional symptoms of this horrid disease make their representations. their appearance, such as ulcerated sore throat, diseased nose nocturnal pains in the need and limbs, dimness of sight, decliness, nodes on timbs, dimness of sight, dealness, nodes of the s in bones and arms, blotches on the head, face and extremities, progressing with fright-ful rapidity, till at last the palateo, the mouth or the bones of the nose fall in, and the victim of this awful disease becomes a horrid object of commiseration till death puts a period to his dreadful suffering, by sending him to that undiscovered country "from whence no traveller returns. It is a melancholy fact that thousands DIE victims to this terrible issues, through falling into the hands of ignorant or unskilful PRE-TENDER, who, by the use of that deadly Poison, Mercury, &c., destroy the constitution, and incapable of curing, keep the unhappy sufferer month after month taking their noxious or injurious compounds, and instead of being restored to a renewal of Life. Vigor and Happiness, in despair leave him with ruined Health to sigh over his galling disappointment.
